Serving to send Workers

The apostle Paul said, "And how shall they preach unless they are sent?" In Romans chapter 10 he establishes the need for cross-cultural outreach at these two levels of involvement: those who go and those who serve by sending.

First Paul quoted Joel: "For whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord shall be saved." Then, using the clear logic so easily understood by the Roman mind, he asked, "And how will they call upon one in whom they have not believed? And how will they believe in him of whom they have not heard?" And how will they hear without a preacher?"

Yes, there must be a "preacher"-a missionary, a cross-cultural worker, one who goes. Whatever his name is, and however he goes, there has to be one who proclaims the Good News. God decided that this would be the way.

Serving to send Workers

...But wait. Another question remains: "And how will they preach unless they are sent?" (Romans 10:13-15). Paul recognized that there are others who must be involved in this world evangelization effort besides those who go: those who serve by sending out workers.

There is a great need for those who serve by sending out workers. And it goes far beyond the symbolic involvement of attending a farewell party or giving an offering for missions. A cross-cultural worker needs the support of a team of people while preparing to leave, while in the field, and when they return to their country of origin.

No cross-cultural worker today should leave his country without a strong and integrated support team, composed of people who are as enthusiastic as he is and who are committed to the work of serving by sending workers.

Our Activities.

We started the month of June visiting new churches in Cuenca and Sigsig to share the project, and to get more teams and churches to support us.

Our Activities.

In the second week, we had a meeting with our authorities of Dinamis and the General Presbytery, to inform them of the details of our documentation and departure.

Our Activities.

Samuel traveled to be part of the inauguration of the missionary house. A historic event in which our DINAMIS authorities worked hard for the reinsertion time of the missionaries returning to Ecuador.

Our Activities.

Samuel had the opportunity to share with the young people of CC3 and preach the following day in an Indigenous Church, grateful to the brothers, who not only prayed but also gave him a gift for being Father's Day.

Our Activities.

During one week, Samuel served in several cantons of the Province of Manabi, with the Gideons International, being part of the team of interpreters in the translation, and assisting in the delivery of New Testaments, thanks to God 111,049 NT were delivered that week.

Our Activities.

That weekend Samuel had the privilege of visiting churches, Picoasá, Portoviejo, and Manta, to reaffirm the missionary commitment to this project.

Our Activities.

Finally, Samuel had the great opportunity to visit Kusutka, in the jungle of Ecuador, where he shared with the children a talk on Sexual Abuse Prevention and shared the project with the congregation.
